Lauren Borkon is a Managing Director in the New York office of Engle, Lindsley and Regan.

Prior to joining ELR, Lauren worked for a national legal search firm, both in its New York office, and its Chicago office, where she was responsible for opening and managing the company's branch location. Lauren's many years in the legal recruiting field have allowed her to both develop the tools necessary to understand her clients hiring objectives, and to counsel attorneys in identifying opportunities consistent with their individual career goals.

Lauren received her BA, cum laude, from the University of Pennsylvania, and her JD from Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law, where she was the Senior Notes Editor of the Cardozo Journal of Conflict Resolution.
