Stephanie Gallo is a Managing Director in the Houston office of Engle, Lindsley & Regan.

Stephanie earned her Bachelor of Science from Louisiana State University and her J.D. from Loyola University New Orleans College of Law. In law school, Stephanie served on the Loyola Law Review's Editorial Board and graduated cum laude. Prior to joining ELR, Stephanie held a judicial clerkship. She then entered private practice in New York City and Houston before transitioning her legal career to becoming a career services professional at the University of Houston Law Center.

While at the University of Houston Law Center, Stephanie provided personalized professional development counseling to students and graduates, including resume and cover letter editing, interview skills training, and networking advising. She also assisted students through the on-campus interview and call-back interview processes. Stephanie championed many initiatives, including mental health and wellness promotion, diversity and inclusion efforts, mentoring programs, and first-generation student support.

Stephanie is active in the National Association for Law Placement. She served as the First-Generation Co-Chair of the J.D. Career Advisors Section, has authored two articles, and presented an online, interactive webinar to an audience of over 160 NALP members. Stephanie regularly volunteers with Dress For Success Houston, a program that empowers women to achieve economic independence by providing a network of support and professional attire.

Stephanie's experience practicing law in different legal markets and working with aspiring attorneys at the University of Houston Law Center gives her unique insight and perspective into the recruiting process. She works with her clients and candidates to offer genuine advice and ensure a fulfilling and lasting professional relationship.
